HOCHTIEF takes over energy contracting for Postbank

Annual energy costs to be cut by 15 percent - CO2 emissions to be reduced by 4,500 tons per annum

In future HOCHTIEF Energy Management will be reducing annual energy costs at eight Postbank locations by a total of 15 percent in line with a corresponding energy contracting agreement which will run for ten years. The energy service provider will also ensure that total CO2 emissions at the locations will be reduced by 4,500 tons per annum. It was agreed that no details of the contract value would be disclosed.

HOCHTIEF Energy Management will ensure the contractually guaranteed energy savings through a variety of measures including the refurbishment of heating systems, the optimization of air conditioning systems, and the modernization of building services management in the properties. HOCHTIEF will also be centrally monitoring, controlling and documenting the operation of heating and air conditioning systems, thus achieving improved energy efficiency.
