HOCHTIEF Energy Management will supply the "Stadtjäger" site in Augsburg with heat. The commercial property with approximately 11,000 square meters of useful space houses offices, training rooms and workshops. The main tenants are Telekom with various subsidiaries, the vocational training center (BBZ) Augsburg and SME workshops. The heat supply contract has a term of 15 years. The contract volume was agreed to be kept confidential.

The Essen-based HOCHTIEF subsidiary will first install a new condensing boiler in the building and renew the instrumentation and control technology. In this way, supply security will be increased and consumption perceptibly reduced. In addition, costs are to be allocated more transparently to the individual consumers by using a new measuring concept. HOCHTIEF Energy Management will open up further saving potentials by means of structured purchasing of natural gas. These savings will be directly passed on to the tenants.
